Wind small paper rolls with the quilling pen and paper strips. Apply glue to the end and place it in the quilling template or cookie cutter, or pull off some paper from the paper roll to glue it to another roll. There are no limits to your imagination. When all the papers are positioned, put some glue on them. So that they stick to each other.

Extra tips:
To create shapes, print out any designs, place them on the cork backing and add pins. Place a strip of paper around the pin and fill with rolls.

For the shooting star, turn the quilling template upside down. Form a star out of a yellow paper strip, fix it with pins on the cork and fill it with more little rolls.

When all the papers are positioned, they are coated with a little paper glue so that the paper rolls stick together.

After drying, the rolls can be positioned on the cards with glue.

For the gift tags, cut the kraft paper to the appropriate size for the width. Now determine the length and cut the paper to your desired measurement here as well. Then slide the paper into the motif punch and press down the handle.

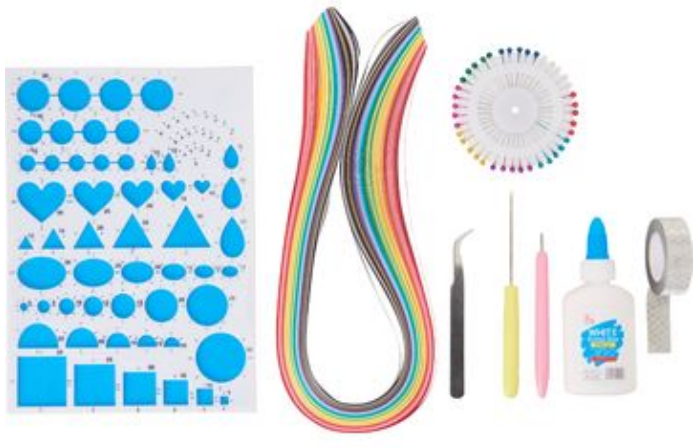

Create greeting cards and gift tags with Christmas trees, shooting stars, Christmas balls or other motifs using the technique just described.

Once your Quilling rolls are fixed on the paper, label the card and tags with fine pens. Set accents with the pen: give the balls with drawn contours, hanging ribbons a visual support, decorate the paper with small stars or with a frame.

Finally, the gift tags only need a hanging ribbon - ready is the very personal Christmas mail!
